

Common Tussock Grass

Poa labillardierei

Tussock grass is commonly found along river banks and wetter areas.

It is a large, dense growing grass that flowers during spring attracting butterflies and birds.

Aboriginal people used the stems and leaves to make nets and baskets.

Biganga Possum Skin Cloak © Artist Lee Darroch Yorta Yorta 2007

Boulevard Bush Reserve

A jointly managed community native open space.

Goulburn
Murray
Landcare

