

Kookaburra

Dacelo

The Kookaburra is the largest member of the kingfisher family.

It lives in the same territories the whole year round which it marks with its echoing human like laughter call.

Kookaburra's live in woodlands and open forests with trees big enough to hold their nests.

The 'perch and pounce' method of hunting is used on snakes, lizards, rodents and insects.

Biganga Possum Skin Cloak © Artist Lee Darroch Yorta Yorta 2007

Boulevard Bush Reserve

A jointly managed community native open space.

Goulburn
Murray
Landcare

